The Lamentable Tragedy of Titus Andronicus.

Flourish. Enter the Tribunes and enter Saturninus and his Followers and Bassianus and his Followers, with Drum and Trumpets.

Saturninus

Noble Patricians, Patrons, Defend the justice of me, And Countrey-men, and Pleade my Succession. I was the first borne Sonne, that That wore the Imperiall Diadem. Then let my Fathers Honours live, Nor wrong mine Age with this.

Bassianus. Romaines, Friends, Favourers of my Right:

If euer Bassianus, Casars Sonne, Were gracious in the eyes of Rome, Keepe then this passage to the Court, And suffer not Dishonour to approach The Imperiall Seate to Vertue: come To Justice, Continence, and Nobility, But let Desert in pure Election flourish, And Romanes, fight for Freedom.

Enter Marcus Andronicus aloft with the Crowne.

Princes, that strive by Factions, and by Factions Ambitiously for Rule and Empery: Know, that the people of Rome for whom I have A speciall Party, have by Common voyce In Election for the Romane Emperie, Chosen Andronicus, Sur-named Pious, For many good and great deserts to Rome. A Nobler man, a brauer Warriour, Lives not this day within the City Wallles.

Rome, be as iust and gracious vnto me, As I am confident and kinde to thee.
